DISAPPOINTED.—The "local" of the Enterprise has reached a situation which should enable him to appreciate the perplexities of the Co. for whom he labors. He has been disappointed in the performance of a lad from York State of whom he expected something "superhuman," so have they; their is, however, the greater disappointment, as upon the investment his realization as compared with his has been decidedly insignificant.

When he can "draw" as well in his particular line as Dudley Waller does in his, it will do for him to set up as a critic, at present his proper position is evidently "in a row" with the flabbiest of the Dogberry fraternity.

LELL IN BUSINESS.—There is now comparatively little doing in our business community, with the exception of the hotels, which are crowded as ever. People are buying just enough for their every day requirements, and as a consequence, some of the merchants are complaining of the stagnation of business. There is nothing strange about this, the same thing happens every year at this time, and it is to be expected. The spring trade will however open as brisk as ever.—Jackson Citizen.

"How similar is our situation."—"Lull" is in business over this way too.

"All signs are mellowed and all sounds subdued; the woods seem farther, and the streams sing low." So do the credit accounts at the Banks, but there is hope for the district that salt may regain its savor, that the ample investments of the log men will bring an abundant yield, and that the triumphant notes of the big circulars, the gangs, the mules, and the whole family of keen toothed youngsters of the mills will soon again resound through the Valley, to the material discomfiture of the aforesaid "Lull." There's a good time coming, "in the spring."

LECTURES.—The remaining lectures of the course this season before the Young Men's Association of this city are thus arranged:
Saturday Feb. 3d, GEORGE ALFRED TOWNSEND. Subject, "From Waterloo to Richmond."
Wednesday Feb. 7th, Hon. GEORGE THOMPSON of England.
Monday Feb. 12th, Rev. Mr. ARMITAGE of Detroit.

Prof. E. S. Youmans is also engaged, though the time of his lecture has not yet been definitely settled, this leaves one lecture still to be selected.

YOUNG MEN'S ASSOCIATION.—This Association at its meeting on the 31st ult., adopted a code of By-Laws and transacted such other business as was necessary to its complete and permanent organization. It may now be regarded as a "fixed fact," and as one of the institutions of the city particularly deserving the support of all liberal minded citizens, is entitled to a generous encouragement and a vigorous manifestation of interest and good will.

YOUNG MEN.—The Cleveland Leader speaking of the lecture of Professor E. L. Youmans in that City says:

"We are glad that Professor Youmans came near the close of the course, for he makes us sick of all the names on the list. It will take all the genius and wisdom of Emerson, we fear, to put the public in the way of tolerating the gentlemen that are to follow."—Prince of American lecturers is Professor Youmans.

THE VOICE OF CENSURE.—We publish a communication on the above subject in this paper at the request of a gentleman of respectability and responsibility, and who is a "Supervisor."

PLANK ROAD.

In pursuance with previous notice the Books were opened in East Saginaw, Frankfort and Vassar, to receive subscriptions to the stock, for constructing a Plank Road from East Saginaw to Vassar. There is already stock enough pledged to complete the road; and everything is moving on as fast as the preliminaries necessary to the organization of such a company will allow. As soon as the Directors fully complete the organization, the work will immediately be commenced. Since the first consultation on this subject fall by the people of East Saginaw and this place everything has worked harmoniously and the unanimity of feeling on the part of all interested in the route now settled upon speaks in a manner that guarantees a speedy completion of the road. We have looked upon the proposition on the part of the Saginaw and Frankfort people, to build a plank road to a point within five miles of us as being a very fair and liberal one; and now the citizens of Vassar have joined them to complete it to this place, what any enterprising people should do to secure a thoroughfare to connect them with Rail Road and Steamboat communication. If there are other roads to be built to other points in the county, all we have to say is this, let those living on the line of the road, take hold of the matter with a united effort, and harmoniously subscribe their stock, form their company, pay in their money, and set men to work, and they will get a road.—We know of no other way that roads can be built. There is one thing that is settled, and that is, that the "East Saginaw, Vassar and Sanilac Plank Road Company," are going to complete a plank road from Saginaw on the Frankfort road, to Vassar, the coming season.—Tuscola Pioneer, Jan. 31st.

"O blessed health, then art above all gold and treasure. 'Tis thou who enlargest the souls and openest all its power to receive instruction and to relish virtue. He that has thee, has little more to wish for; and he that is so wretched as to want thee, wants every thing with thee."—Sterne.

Very few of those who are in the enjoyment of health will appreciate the above extract, but those who have lost it will all too keenly see its beauty and feel its pugnancy.

VOORHIES' SPEECH.—We make no apology for the space occupied by the powerful speech of Hon. DANIEL E. VOORHIES published to-day, it could not have been better filled. We bespeak for it the careful and attentive perusal of all our readers.

THE VOICE OF CENSURE.

EDITOR COURIER.—Wishing to say a few words, in regard to the attack of the Enterprise upon the Board of Supervisors, in its issue of the 26th, and supposing its columns closed against all of the 15, at least, I avail myself of your paper for the purpose. The Enterprise man complains of the passage of a vote of censure by the board, but what are the facts? The Enterprise agreed for a certain sum to publish the full proceedings of the board, to publish each day's proceedings, and to have them "appear in the next morning's paper, and to deliver a copy of the same to each Supervisor. In its issue of the 24th, it failed to publish the report of the dredging committee and a minority report, also a communication from Mr. Goddard, all of which the Board had ordered printed. The Editor stated in a note that he was unable to print them in that issue, but would do so in the next. But as the next paper did not contain the reports, and the balance of the proceedings were very incorrectly published, and as some of the friends of the Enterprise had said the reports would not be published, Mr. Lewis, seeing the Editor present, offered a resolution of censure, and called upon Mr. Joslin for an explanation, intending to withdraw his resolution had any satisfactory reasons been given. The chairman who is a personal friend of the Editor, and a Stockholder in the Enterprise, answered that all Mr. Joslin wanted was for the Board to pay him for what he had done, and he would stop—and although another member (Mr. Haack) called for an explanation from Mr. Joslin, there was no response, and the chairman insisted upon putting the question without debate; the result was its passage by a vote of 16 to 10 instead of 15 to 11 as the Enterprise states. Upon the announcement of the vote, Mr. Joslin said he was glad of it, and now he would give them a raking down, and this he has attempted to do in his own peculiar style.—He calls the Board by all the hard names he can think of, and designates their place of meeting as the Bear garden, (if this was the case it would seem that it was no place for swine to exhibit themselves), and after attempting to be severe upon one or two of its members, he winds up by saying he does not mean to be personal, and then undertakes to excuse himself for not publishing the reports by saying that the report was not a report, that neither the committee nor the Board had had anything to do with it, but styles it Mr. Barnard's document. Now the facts are the Board thought the expenditure of a hundred thousand dollars of the people's money a matter of some importance, and at its October session it referred the reports of the Dredging commissioners to a select committee, who were directed to examine the whole subject matter, and to report the result of this examination at the next meeting of the Board, which they did through their chairman, Mr. Ure. The report was quite lengthy, and recommended the passage of an accompanying resolution, the Board accepted the report, ordered it printed and placed on file, and then adopted the resolution recommended by the committee. Mr. Jeffers, one of the committee, presented a minority report and a communication from the Engineer of the commissioners which was also ordered printed and placed on file. Now Mr. Editor, of the merits or demerits of those documents I do not speak, but had the Enterprise man published them, the public could have judged for themselves, but instead of doing this he chose to misstate facts, and tries to create a prejudice against Mr. Barnard, one of the committee, and so he ridicules the report and says it is to be printed in the Poker, instead of the Enterprise, and said he could get it in—whether this negotiation was prompted by avarice or not, I cannot say, but as it is generally understood that both papers are printed in one office, and that the rates are much higher in the former than in the latter, it will bear that construction, to say the least. He also misstates the member, in his paper of the 26th. He makes the report of the committee on county affairs to read Supervisors instead of Supervisor, Chairman for Claimant, Convention for Conviction,

Committee for County, and all in the space of four lines—also when an appeal was taken from the ruling of the chair, he says the chair was sustained, when the fact was, the appeal was sustained and the chair overruled, and this he knew, for he copied from the records himself. But your contemporary did not fully relieve himself in his first article, so he gives the Board another raking down on Saturday, in which he pays about as much regard to truth as in his first effort. His allusion to a settled hostility to East Saginaw, and thus trying to excite local feeling is simply ridiculous, and here let me say, Mr. Editor, that whatever of local prejudice there may have been in this Valley, I believe it has been mainly produced and kept alive by the ebullitions of such individuals as the Editor of the Enterprise, who have managed to accumulate enough of filth and lucre to establish themselves at the head of a paper, and if the Stock Company which was formed for the purpose succeed in sustaining this deadly incubus upon society, there will be demonstrated the fact, that money can do anything. We are told that Omnipotence can make even the wrath of man to praise him, and that in the economy of nature there is nothing made in vain, but I confess if there ever was a subject that would lead me to doubt the doctrine, it is the irate Editor of the Enterprise, and in conclusion let me say, that his slanderous attack upon the Board, and particularly upon certain members, would not have been answered by me, but that silence might have been construed into an admission of the falsehoods therein stated.
